Tram: stop Kruisplein (line 4, 7, 8, 20, 21, 23 and 25)

Metro: stop Central Station (Erasmus line)

The inner city walk offers a very good introduction to the architecture of Rotterdam. It will give you an overall impression of the constantly changing ideas about the layout of Rotterdam - from business centre to shopping centre and residential area. More than half a century of labour has gone into the innovative and daring architecture of the city's centre and still inner city development is in full motion.

The main aim of the walk is to illustrate the visible results of decisions made by the city council regarding the city's interior. These include the large-scale building projects of the 1950's and 60's and the renovation and small-scale building during the 1970's and 80's. Finally you will see the high-rise buildings constructed from 1990 until the present day, where once again great interventions are expected as well as changes to housing policy.

Welcome reception (offered by the Municipality of Rotterdam)

Monday 25 June 2007, 17.30 - 19.00 hrs.

In this historical building you will be welcomed in Rotterdam by Rotterdam City Council with a reception.

With a 750 horsepower steam engine, the giant paddles run smoothly and take you through the largest harbour of Europe and past the many attractive sights of Rotterdam.

Conference dinner Laurenskerk

Wednesday 27 June 2007, 19.30 – 23.15 hrs.

Tram 21 (direction De Esch). Get off at stop Blaak

Metro: Stop Beurs (Erasmus line), or Blaak (Caland line)

Built between around 1449 and 1525, the Laurenskerk is the only surviving late-Gothic building from Rotterdam's mediaeval origins. For many people, the Laurenskerk is symbolic of the city's history. In the Middle Ages, for example, citizenship of Rotterdam could be acquired by contributing 3000 stones to the construction of the tower. The images of the heavy damage sustained by the church in the second world war and its reconstruction afterwards became a symbol for the fate of the city and its inhabitants. Even now, the Laurenskerk retains its imposing character among all the modern architecture in what is today known as 'Manhattan on the Maas'. Inside its monumental walls three impressive organs, three memorial tombs for sea heroes, the copper choir fence and candle light define the historic atmosphere. Cultural events like concerts, lectures and expositions regularly take place.
